

KALEIDOSCOPE

The title of the exhibition reflects the diversity of colour and beauty in the works of the two Eden Hill artists, Kathy Mildern and Lynne Bainbridge. Both share a love of oils and Kathy also works in pastels and with modelling compound and other mediums.

‘ Araluen in Bloom’ by Kathy Mildern $465

Kathy Mildern was first inspired by the magnificent landscapes of the North West and began taking art courses.

Later she worked with artists and teachers in Perth who mentored and extended her skills and use of different media.

Kathy has exhibited at Houghton's Winery, La Salle College, Olive Farm Winery, Mazenod College,

Swan View Show and many local council art exhibitions. Kathy also runs art programs for a community organisation and in her home studio in Eden Hill.

‘ A Touch of Paradise’ by Lynne Bainbridge $400

Lynne Bainbridge had kept her desire to paint on hold until she met Kathy who offered her art classes. She says, ‘Our weekly sessions over the past few years have developed into a great friendship and things have blossomed. I have more ideas and freedom in the abstracts I’ve been experimenting with and exhibiting locally.’

Kathy says, ‘When making up for lost time, Lynne moves at a hundred miles per hour carrying me along on her jet stream. Her enthusiasm is infectious.’

The two artists have created an interesting and varied body of work, ranging across impressionist land and seascapes, flower studies, Japanese inspired works and bold abstracts.
